Committee Plans Full Day's Activity For Annual Fiesta

Tentative plans have been made by the Executive Board Fiesta committee to feature a full day's activity on Fiesta Day on May 14. The plans have been made so the day will start at 7:30 a.m. and end at 12:30 that night.

A Coronation Breakfast and assembly will begin the day at 7:30 and run until 9:00. During the breakfast the Don and Dona will be crowned and the prizes for the best beards and pigtails or ponytails will be awarded.

Prizes will be given to the male students with the longest, neatest, or scrungiest beards. For the women, prizes will be given for the neatest, longest and shortest pigtails or ponytails.

Games and a sack luncheon will dominate the time between 12:00 and 1:00. The sack lunches will be made up by the cafeteria. Among the games planned are sack races and a fire-hose tug-of-war.

The parade, through downtown Santa Ana, will begin at 2:00, followed by the SAC-Fullerton baseball game.

"Finian's Rainbow", the music and drama department Fiesta musical, will start the evening, at 8:00. Ending the day is the Fiesta Dance at the Student Union following the musical.

Buttons will be sold before Fiesta for $1.50, which will pay for the breakfast, lunch, Finian's Rainbow, and the Dance. For all those who do not hold these "Fiesta Day Booster Buttons" the prices will be considerably higher.

Company's production of "Brigadoon" in the Philharmonic Auditorium.

At the close of a four week run in Los Angeles, the musical will be presented in San Francisco for another four weeks. Miss Courreges is also in line for a preferred role in "Peter Pan", the final production of the 1954 series which stars Mary Martin.

A graduate of Huntington Beach High School, the mezzo-soprano has appeared in the lead of "Boucharde the Pirate" at the 1953 Orange County Fair. She has traveled with the Horace Heidt radio troupe. As a member of the Swing Choir, and a soloist she has made numerous television and radio appearances. This winter she has been heard over the monthly radio show broadcast over KBIG, Catalina.

AND A GOOD TIME WAS HAD BY ALL at the Los Caballeros' "Luau" dance. The "Luau" ushered in the Easter week vacation and was said to be one of the best attended dances of the school year. Many students, as those pictured above, came in Hawaiian dress. The dance was held in the Student Union the Friday before Easter vacation. (Photo by Jerry Smock)

1800 Students At Night School

Students from virtually every community in Orange County mingle on the Santa Ana College campus, with the greatest variety numbered among the nearly 1800 persons enrolled in the Evening Division.

Stuart Carrier, director of the Evening Division, disclosed that behind top-ranking Santa Ana, Garden Grove leads the outside areas with 148 students.

All classroom capacity is filled for the evening division classes. The broad scope of classes emphasizes academic subjects, in contrast to the so-called "frills," Carrier pointed out.

Hundreds To Visit Campus For Public Schools Week, April 26-30

SAC will be host to hundreds of campus visitors during the Public Schools Week, starting Monday.

The annual observance is sponsored this year by the Masonic Lodge, the Santa Ana Teachers Association and Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The feature exhibit has been installed in the Student Union Lounge, depicting the instruction offered in all levels of the city schools. There are two college exhibits included, one for the day classes and another for the Evening Division.

The exhibits were opened Thursday night when a group of community leaders had dinner in the Student Union and heard a program telling of progress of construction under last year's bond issue, which includes three buildings for the college campus. Construction will start soon on the gymnasium and science building, with work on the auditorium-speech-music building to start later.

The public has been invited to visit the Union exhibits all week.

The college program will open Monday night, at 6:30, with open house by the Evening Division.

Featured that night will be Radio and Television's Joe Littlefield, who will speak on "Plans for Your Summer Garden"; it will be held in room A-1.

Also included in the program are, "Bud" Rockliffe who will lecture and demonstrate the latest paints and painting techniques, and Leo Denning, who will speak on the "Seven Cardinal Test Points for the Auto Mechanic."

Rockliffe will lecture and demonstrate at the spray booth, with Denning speaking in the Auto Shop.

A movie on the proper use of the telephone will be shown every half-hour, starting at 7:00 and running until 9:30, in room D-30. Refreshments will be served at the Child Guidance Center.

Speech Classes Enter Contest

The speech department of SAC will participate in a speech contest at Chaffey College on April 29.

The contest, starting at 3:30 in the afternoon, will feature a live radio broadcast over station KOCS, Ontario. The subjects of the speakers will be news reporting and feature reporting.

At a 5:30 dinner meeting there will be an after dinner speech contest. Then at 8:00 p.m. the participating schools will be the guest of the Chaffey College drama department for a presentation of "The White Headed Boy" written by Lenox Robinson.

School competition for those wishing to try out will start April 19th.

Lion's Club Holds Luncheon In Union Invite Business Club

Members of the new campus club, the Future Business Leaders of Santa Ana College, have been invited to the Santa Ana Lion's Club's luncheon on Thursday, April 29, in the Student Union.

The luncheon is part of the Public Schools Week festivities that will be held on campus. The luncheon on Thursday will be a joint meeting of the Lions Club and the South Santa Ana Lions Club.

Stanley Schrumpf, the club's president, will also be guest to a number of other club luncheons that will be held on campus during Public Schools Week, April 26 through May 1.

A field trip to the offices of the Dean Witter Company in Santa Ana was recently taken by members of the new business club. Because only 20 students can be handled in the offices while the exchange board is in operation, at least two other trips are being planned.

Accompanying the first group on the trip were N. W. Helm, chairman of the business education department, and Harry Jackson, accounting instructor. The tour was the first in a series of trips to professional business houses that are being planned by the club.

School Host To Six City Clubs

Santa Ana College will be host to six prominent Santa Ana clubs for luncheon next Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday in the Student Union. The luncheon will include exhibits on education and tours of the campus.

On Tuesday, the Santa Ana Rotary Club will have luncheon in the Student Union, with entertainment by the college music department, followed by tours of exhibits and the campus.

The Wednesday program will bring the Santa Ana Kiwanis Club for luncheon, with the Santa Ana Soroptimist Club meeting in the Faculty Dining Room. Both groups will be entertained by the college music department. Wednesday morning, the Santa Ana Breakfast Club will meet in the Union.

The Santa Ana Lions Club and the South Santa Ana Lions Club will conduct a joint session in the Student Union Thursday noon.

The Student Union Lounge was closed last Wednesday for preparation of the exhibits and will be used exclusively for the displays through Public Schools Week.

Bill Grant, president of the Associated Students, urged students to extend a cordial welcome to campus visitors during Public Schools Week and to point out campus points of interest to those on the tours.

Fifty Dollar Award Won By SAC Coed From Women's Club

Gretchen Heyzel, a sophomore majoring in biological science, was recently awarded a fifty dollar scholarship from the Santa Ana Business and Professional Women's Club.

Five of the seven girls vieing for the scholarship were from Santa Ana College. The contestants were judged on scholarship, student activities and personality.

Applications were submitted by each contestant which told their grade point average, educational plans, and vocational goals, extra curricular activities, the subjects taken in the major, and how the scholarship would help them obtain their goals. In addition each applicant was interviewed personally by Miss Ruth Rowland, head of the club's scholarship committee.

After her graduation this June, Miss Heyzel will continue training for a career as a dental hygienist.

A former member of the Student Executive Board, Miss Heyzel is now an active member of La Menias, women's service club, Las Doncellas, women's honorary service organization, and Alpha Gamma Sigma, national junior college honor society.

Virginia Webster
AS Treasurer

Host Of Duties Surround SAC AS Treasurer

Busy keeping up with all the duties connected with being AS treasurer, Virginia Webster is often seen hurrying from place to place on campus.

Besides all her studies, she manages to hold a part in the forthcoming musical, "Finian's Rainbow." With rehearsals every night, it isn't easy, but, bubbling over with energy, she does all her jobs well. Being WAA president and AWS cabinet recreation chairman are all part of her campus life.

Miss Webster has also been known as "Miss Business Education" during the recent Business Education Day, and SAC's queen at the Eastern Conference Dance in Riverside.

Last semester, she was primarily the head songleader for the SAC football games. She also was SA secretary, WAA secretary, and president of Las Gitanas service club.

Appearing in two productions of the College Players, "Alice In Wonderland," and "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," she has shown her talent for acting.

Mrs. Wilma Dunn, a member of Miss Lota Blythe's Creative Writing class recently sold a 200-word story to Field and Stream, a sportsman's magazine. The story tells how two dogs worked together to flush out their prey.

Las Mininas Gives May Fashion Show

SAC Adds Another Name To List Of Foreign Students On Campus

A new face has been seen on campus all this week. It belongs to Suham Abdel-Wahid, better known as "Sam." He is the newest member of the foreign students at SAC and will audit classes for the rest of the semester.

He comes from Iraq, and is the son of Abdel Jaggar, landowner at Bagdad. He came here upon the recommendation of Muqbil Zahawi, who transferred from SAC to USC this semester. Zahawi and Wahid are distantly related to each other.

Wahid enrolled in classes with an agriculture major in mind. After graduation from SAC he intends to transfer to UCLA. He followed high school with one year of college at the American University in Ciaro. While in college there he played tennis and the piano. His family speaks Arabic, but Sam has a good mastery of English and some French.

The plane which Wahid came to the United States in made short stops at Beirut, London, New York and finally Los Angeles.

GETTING ACQUAINTED—Dr. Daniel C. McNaughton, college director, right, helps new student from Iraq, Suham "Sam" Wahid, get acquainted with SAC. Wahid plans to audit courses here until the end of the semester, and then major in agriculture at SAC next semester.

Gridder Moynihan Wins Speech Honor

Jack Moynihan, last year's football co-captain at Santa Ana College who has been active in speech and drama work, brought new honors to his college by winning the Eastern Conference Speech Association first prize in panel discussion at a conference conducted at Riverside College.

After his graduation from Santa Ana College Moynihan will transfer to the University of Southern California where he will continue his major in sociology with special stress on police work. Upon graduation from USC, Moynihan plans to enter police work.

Patience Required By Students Taking Driver Education

Patience, patience, and more patience is the predominant characteristic of the Driver Education instructors of SAC.

Mr. Phil Mendez, driver improvement analyst of the Department of Motor Vehicles, gives classroom instruction each week on Thursday evening from 7:00 to 9:30 p.m. in room C21 on the SAC campus. A study is made of traffic laws and problems, and films are shown to impress students with the responsibilities of a good driver.

Each week instructors take groups of four students out in the driver education car for a two hour period. Each student receives a half hour of behind the wheel instruction which progresses from simple starting, stopping, and driving around curves on the SAC campus to starting and stopping on slopes, driving around curves on hills, and in congested traffic on fourth street in Santa Ana. Instruction and practice is given in diagonal and parallel parking.

The 48 fortunate people, one lone man and 47 women, who began their driver education on April first will receive a thorough knowledge of traffic laws, something of the mechanism of the car, and behind the wheel practice in driving.

When the twelve weeks course has been completed each student who has attended regularly receives a certificate of completion.

The most coveted award of the course is a driver's license which is issued by the State Department of Motor Vehicles to those students who demonstrate their ability to drive correctly and safely.

Behind the wheel instruction is given by Mr. Mendez, Mr. Arlin E. Pirtle, and Mr. Edward T. Eaton, instructors at SAC, and Mr. Ken Cotter, instructor from Santa Ana high school.

Eighteen Welding Books Given By Lincoln Foundation

SAC has recently received an addition to its library, a gift of 18 books from the James F. Lincoln Arc-Welding Foundation.

These books cover all phases of arc-welding from how to do welding jobs on the farm, to arc-welding in the construction of buildings, bridges, and ships. Included also are books on the Lincoln Incentive System in plant management, which has made the Lincoln Electric Company the world's largest manufacturers of lowest cost arc-welding equipment, and its workers the highest paid in the world.

Dreams and Visions

Jim and his three brothers "scratched to get to college" but they all graduated as electrical engineers from Ohio State University.

Young Jim had dreams and visions of the future possibilities of arc-welding. He is today "the boss" of a plant that has grown from its beginnings in a basement shop in 1895, representing an investment of $250 by his brother John to a $9,000,000 - 20 acre plant in Cleveland, Ohio.

The Lincoln Electric Company now has branches in England, Canada, Australia, Mexico, and Argentina. It has a welding school and has established a foundation for the advancement of new ideas in arc-welding by sponsoring awards and scholarships.

Incentive System

The Lincoln Incentive System of business management got its start one day during the depression when an employee, a member of the Lincoln Advisory Committee leaned forward during a meeting and said, "If we did more, tried harder, and worked together as a real team could the company pay us more?"

Jim Lincoln, on occasion, illustrates his points with quotations from the Eighth Psalm, and the 14th stanza of Grey's "Elegy Written in a Country Churchyard." He regards the proudest moment of his life when, as captain, he lead his college football team from the field victorious.

The philosophy of Jim Lincoln may be expressed in these words: "The future belongs to those who prepare for it," and the inscription over the Cleveland plant: "The Actual is Limited; The Possible is Immense."

Stenos Needed By Business World Today

There will be a "great dearth of good secretaries and stenographers for at least the next seven years," says Elsie McCormick in a recent article in the magazine Independent Woman.

Miss McCormick states that according to a survey of business schools that covered the United States, the average graduate has a choice of twelve jobs.

Better working conditions, shorter hours, increased pay, group life and hospital insurance, generous pension plans, a chance to buy stock in the company at less than market price, and a possibility of romance are a few of the inducements offered by business firms to lure secretaries and stenographers.

Many World War II and Korean Veterans are "brave enough to face social resistance" and are taking secretarial training. Miss McCormick quotes Gordon Rigs, head of the famous Katherine Gibbs Secretarial schools as saying "What it amounts to is a leapfrog training program—a chance to get close to top executives and find out things about methods and policy that a junior employee wouldn't normally learn for years."

The amazing secretarial shortage will be over "when the droves of youngsters now crowding our elementary schools break into the business world," but the improved working conditions and better understanding between secretary and boss will remain.

Art For Careers, Home Decoration And Enriched Lives Stressed In Santa Ana College Art Classes

Editor's Note: Following is the thirteenth of a series of articles written by Lorraine Elam, El Don reporter, to acquaint students with various departments of the college.

"Everyone is an artist to some degree," said Miss Frances W. Egge, instructor of Art at SAC.

"We use our artistic talents every day. We show our taste whether it is good or bad in the choices we make," continued Miss Egge.

"Artistic taste involves sizes, shapes, lines, colors and proportions and their combinations. Every person can improve his taste by study and practice," she added.

In the course on History and Appreciation of Art the students learn to recognize harmonious line and proportion. Through the showing of slides, pictures, lectures and collateral reading the student learns to enjoy and evaluate past cultural history as well as contemporary art.

Students learn art appreciation by "trying their hand" in the execution of simple problems of organization.

Serves Two Purposes

"Most of our courses serve two purposes," said Miss Egge. "They provide the students who need art courses in their chosen profession with the required knowledge and skill. The courses also enrich the lives of students by increasing their awareness of the beauty in things around them. A student may also acquire an avocation that is rewarding in enjoyment and pride of accomplishment."

Students of Structure (color and design) classes are provided with the opportunity to grow in ability and confidence in mixing and combining colors. They learn the "scientific" principles used in building a work of art.

Art In The Home

Home planning and furnishing is studied in the course of Interior Decoration. The expression of character, good taste, style, comfort, function, and beauty in home planning are emphasized.

Drawing and Painting are taught in Course No. 4 AB. The students learn to draw accurately and effectively. "Almost everyone can learn to draw or represent something graphically and receive a lot of fun and pride in the accomplishment," said Miss Egge, adding "of course this along with a command of color and design are absolutely basic for any career in art."

Technical skill in the art of Lettering and Advertising Art is taught in Course 12 ABCD. Students learn to plan and complete layouts of several basic types. They acquire skill in pen and brush lettering used on showcards and posters. They understand advertising layout from the standpoint of suitability of purpose, balance, emphasis, and unity.

Economic Profit

The Art students at SAC are encouraged "to develop their own creative talents and never to copy." They are impressed with the realization that "art has always been a natural and inseparable part of normal living, and that a career in art can lead to great economic profit," emphasized Miss Egge in conclusion.

Fullerton Hornets Whip Don Ball Men

A few days before entering the Citrus JC Baseball Tournament, Don baseballers received a hard blow from Fullerton JC, for they were defeated, 14-7, and dropped into fifth place in Eastern Conference standnings.

Marshall Van der Linde, with three hits in four trips, and Dick Parker, with two in four trips, led the Don battery, and SAC boasted a 5-4 lead as the 4th inning rolled around.

The Hornets began to buzz in the 4th, however, and hit everything Don pitch Bill Byrne threw. Art Schade, of Fullerton, blasted a three-run homer, as the Hornets pushed across eight runs.

Don hitters were only able to score two more runs in the remaining three innings of the seven inning game, and last place Fullerton scored its first victory of the season, upsetting SAC, 14-7.
